To The Graduating Seniors

The theme of this year's ROUNDUP, it will be observed, is "Student Life." Connected with this center of interest is a problem of great importance both to the school as an institution and to every individual in it. Ask your teachers, ask yourself, "When does student life end?"

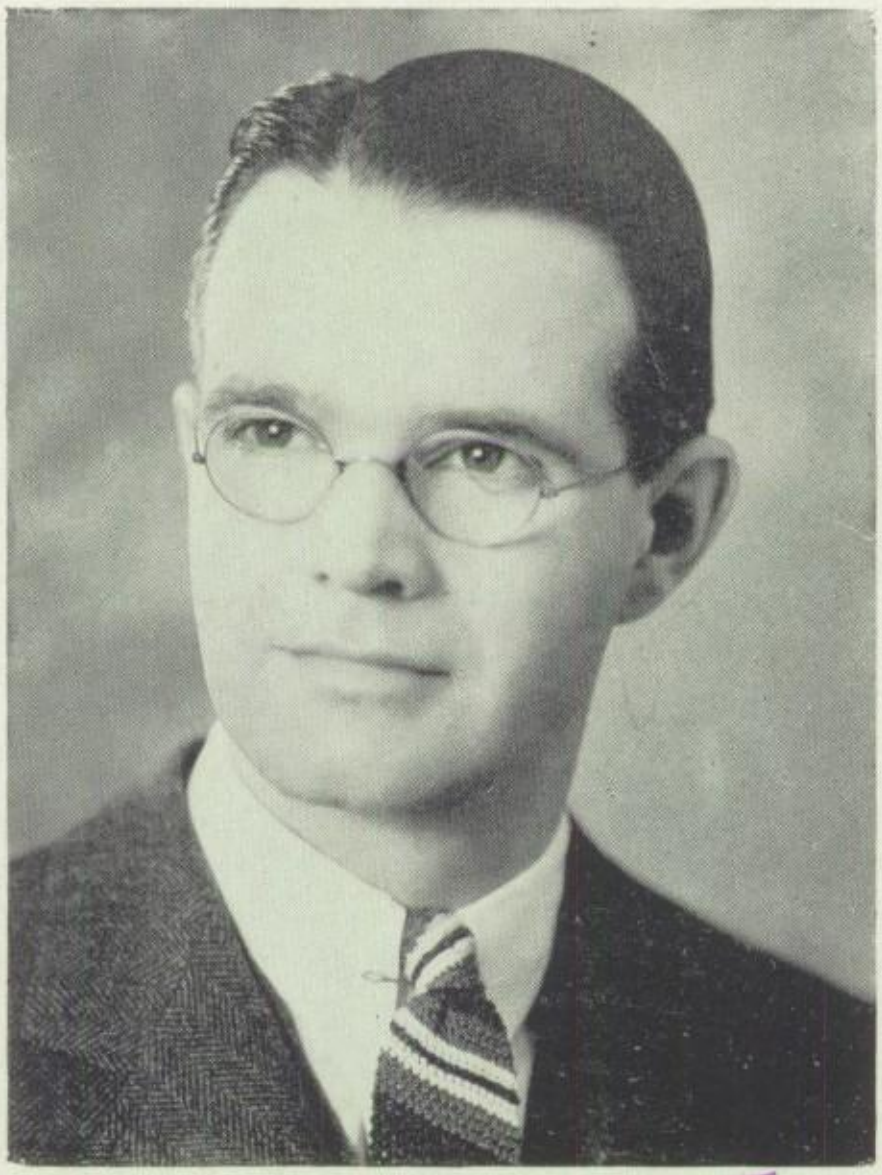
Not so long ago the immediate answer would have been, "When you receive your diploma, unless you are going to college." Probably you will be given the same answer today by most persons whom you ask.

But gradually there is accumulating a growing number of people who would answer your question in this way: "Your student life ends when you stop studying." That is a very different matter. It seems to imply that one can continue to study even after one has received a diploma. It seems to imply that schooling may end, but education can go on.

Is there any reality in that implication? Yes, indeed. The opportunity lies before you after you have your diploma. The need exists after you have your diploma. If you do not see the opportunity, feel the need, and have the urge to continue your student life, whether in college or at home by yourself, then something is wrong somewhere.

IRVING W. SMITH

High School Principal



The Principal's Message

The selection of the theme, "Student Life," for The Roundup seems to be particularly fitting. Where else does one find a more complete record of the student life of each senior? Where can one turn to find a better summary of the activities of the several student organizations? The answer is obvious though probably overlooked many times.

The administration of this high school does recognize the importance of all phases of student life. It acknowledges the obligation to provide a wide variety of life situations and constructive activities. It also is aware that there must be a constant, though sometimes unseen, leadership on the part of those charged with the administrative responsibilities.

The significance may be understood if one appreciates the contrast between the ideals expressed by the terms, "Student Government" or "Faculty Government" and "Student-Faculty Participation in Government."

It is our pleasure to note that there actually does exist a considerable degree of student participation. This varies, of course, with the quality of student leaders available, but it has been real and constructive. Our wish is that more leadership will be developed and that student days may bring more student life situations and increased preparation for life by actual living.

M. C. GALLAGHER

ARMIN G. JAHR

Vice Principal

In building a SQUARE BOY the school must start with the base line—his inner character. If the line is not absolutely on the level and perfectly straight, then the two perpendicular lines which rise from either end of the base line to form his social and vocational sides will be out of plumb. As a result, the top line—his citizenship—will not fit. In this case there will be no perfect Square! For a boy to learn to b^2 with all his school relationships is a commendable start and an aid to squaring one's action for future life situations.

Roll of Honor

The history of the Great Falls high school has been one of progress. It has developed from an organization whose first graduating class consisted of three members to an institution graduating over 400 students each year.

A large factor in this progress has been the caliber of our faculty. It is therefore just that we commend those teachers who have served the longest.

Miss Houliston has seen two high schools erected, each building an improvement over its predecessor. She has taught mathematics since our building was first used in 1901 and is the head of that department. As a leader of school activities Miss Houliston is not excelled.

ANNE HOULISTON

JEANNE BUCKMASTER

Dean of Girls

The beauty and mirth of our school centers about our girls. Then, too, usually more than 50% of the enthusiasm and the brain power is furnished by the girls.

The ideal enrollment in a classroom is one in which the membership is equally divided between boys and girls. Under this condition we find keen, wholesome competition, with the noisy enthusiasm of the boys somewhat offset by the girls.

"Then here's to our girls, they're the finest on earth,

Where else could be found so much beauty and mirth?"

MAYME MURCHIE

Roll of Honor

Our social science department is a true mirror of school progress. Miss Buckmaster, the present head of this section, has been an important factor in its development since 1913.

In 1915 Miss Murchie became a member of our faculty. She has not only distinguished herself in the mathematics department, but is at the present time the Dean of Women.

Miss Velikanje's efforts from 1917 through today have developed a splendid foreign language department. One might be proud to hold her position as head of this section.

Mr. Perry has been an outstanding faculty member since the fall of 1919. As head of our manual arts department, he has spent much time in improving the several shops.

National Honor Society

Office	Both Semesters
President	HARRY BOETCHER
Vice President	MARY BETH WEIMER
Secretary-Treasurer	MARY LOUISE POPE
Sponsor	MISS JEANNE BUCKMASTER

The National Honor Society was founded by the Association of High School Principals in 1921. The Great Falls chapter received its charter in 1924 while Mr. Bruce Millikan was principal. There were then twenty-five charter members. Both the local and national organizations have grown rapidly. Four hundred forty-one members have been elected so far to the Great Falls chapter. Over half of these have gone to college or other higher institutions. The national organization has 2,056 chapters at present and these are found in the best high schools of the United States.

Members of the National Honor Society are selected by the faculty on the basis of character, service, leadership and scholarship. The letters CSLS, on the National Honor Society emblems stand for these qualities. National rules require the choice to be made from those who rank in the upper one-third of the class in scholarship. Not more than 15 percent of the graduating class may be members. Five per cent of these may be selected at the end of the junior year and the remainder are elected at the close of the senior year.

Membership in the society is usually considered a high distinction because those selected are supposed to have attained most nearly the objectives for which a high school exists. The society is an attempt to recognize the student who has made good morally and socially as well as intellectually.

Eighteen members of the junior class were elected last year. Since they are all participating actively in other high school organizations, it has not seemed advisable for them as a group to undertake any separate projects.

The Student Association has completed its fourth year of progress. It has functioned smoothly and competently in the handling of student activities.

The officers were again elected by the entire student body while the representatives were chosen by their respective advisory groups.

Much of the work is handled by the various committees which are appointed by the president with the consent of the Association. Not only are the actual representatives appointed on these committees, but also members from the student body. The results of their investigations largely determine the action of the Association. School functions handled by committees with the assistance of faculty members included assemblies, assembly seating and conduct, dancing arrangements, activity dates, promotion and publicity, and special awards.

Again this year the Student Association sponsored the activities ticket. For the nominal sum of $1.75, the students are able to obtain the school paper and attend all plays, concerts, and athletic activities.

The work accomplished this year was marked by an increased interest on the part of the officers, representatives, and the student body as a whole.

Music Department

The music department, one of the largest and most important organizations of the Great Falls high school, serves as a splendid representative of our school and city. The three main divisions of this department are the band, the orchestra, and the chorus.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Richards, consists of two groups, the first and the second band.

The first band is the main group and has sixty members. Three concerts are given each year.

The second band is a beginners' band. The members learn to play their instrument so that they may take their places in the first band the next year. Its first public appearance is in the Roundup Day parade. Both bands play separately at the annual music festival given every spring.

October 20 of this school year, the direction of the orchestra passed to Mr. Barr, after Mr. Oakland's resignation. The orchestra has eighty-five members. Concerts were given in December and March. This group also furnished music for graduation.

The Little Symphony Orchestra has about forty members picked from the members of the main orchestra. It played in the pit for the school plays and for the operetta as well as for some of the school assemblies.

A second orchestra consists of twenty-five members under the direction of Mr. Karl Erickson. The members are violinists who have not had sufficient training to be in the main orchestra, but hope to be after this instruction.

Mr. Barr also has charge of the mixed chorus, sometimes called the senior chorus. This chorus is picked from the fourth and fifth period classes. Thirty girls are picked to be members of the A Capella Choir.

Music Department

These girls represent the finest female voices of the school. Also from these classes, about fifteen boys are picked who form the Boys' chorus. The A Capella choir and the Boys' chorus work in unison making the select mixed chorus. The students in this division receive extra merit for their work.

This group is very important for from it comes the special small combinations for school programs, radio programs, and city functions. Eight voices were selected to carry out the traditional practice of singing Carols in the halls during fourth period to increase the Christmas spirit.

Miss Ferris has the instruction of the Freshman chorus of one hundred voices which present certain members of its group in concerts. The main reason for this chorus is, however, to train voices to be placed in the mixed chorus the following year.

After two years in the department, service letters are given. A chenille letter is given after three years of service to the best musicians of the orchestra, the band, and to the best singers in the chorus. To earn a chenille, students are judged fifty percent on musical ability and fifty percent on service to the department. The following students received chenille letters this year: Grossman, Hugos, Kjelsrud, Pappas, Stage, Thurman, Young, S. Anderson, Borra, Cottrell, Danley, Henion, Horsewood, Ray, Swanson, J. Taylor, Boyd, Courtnage, Harris, Klaboe, Korsgaard, Nichols, Richards, Swerdferger, Stoner, L. Taylor.

The whole music department combines to give a music mixer each spring, and the money taken from this dance is used to help buy uniforms, instruments, and music.

At a mysterious, old inn, "The Black Flamingo" has its setting. Recognizing the author, Sam Janney, and knowing the play to be exciting and thrilling, the Juniors chose it to be their Class Play, and presented it at the Great Falls High School Auditorium on December 13 and 14, 1935. The unusual settings which represented the interior of the dark and gloomy castle, were designed by the Stagecraft Classes under the direction of Mr. Clemen Peck. With Miss Louise Buck as the director of this weird, mystery drama, the cast established a reputation for their excellent acting. The play involved tense situations, such as an angry, hysterical mob, the discovery of a diamond necklace, ghostly strains of a violin, and the violent death of an arch fiend. There were also tender love scenes between a dashing young nobleman and a beautiful lady, and witty repartee and comic cavorting between a foppish, old gentleman and an ugly, little scullery maid. The play came to a surprising and satisfying conclusion when an old man, hidden in a secret garret of the old inn, stumbled out and exposed the whole history of the fabulous necklace and the attempts to regain it by certain noblemen. At the drop of the curtain, the audience voiced its opinion as "Well Done!"

An unusually fine performance was rendered by the entire cast of Hobson's Choice under the direction of Miss Evelyn Clinton. The humorous situations throughout the play afforded by the characterizations as well as the plot kept the crowd in merriment.

The lively comedian, Horatio Hobson, owner of Hobson's Super Shoe Store and father of three pretty, spirited daughters, suggests that his daughters marry. Maggie, the domineering oldest daughter, immediately snatches up the suggestion and proposes to Willie Mossop, the unsuspecting, shy, retiring clerk in her father's store. Realizing his possibilities, she sets out to "make a man of him." Her technique not only wins a husband for herself but also secures one for each of her two sisters.

The once "know it all" father soon fades into the background under the sway of his impetuous daughter (Maggie). The play comes to a smooth conclusion with Maggie controlling the situation and Willie doing a fine job helping her.

Effective settings by Mr. Peck and his helpers made an impressive and appropriate atmosphere.

The All-School Play, "Growing Pains," by Aurania Rouverol, is a modern comedy of high school and adolescent life. Under the direction of Miss Evelyn Clinton, it was successfully produced at the Great Falls high school auditorium, December 11 and 12, 1936.

The elaborate setting for the play, designed and constructed under Mr. Peck's direction, received many favorable comments from the audience. It was the patio of the McIntyre's California bungalow.

Entertaining situations such as the stages that Terry and George McIntyre go through in growing up and their gradual awakening to love, provided much merriment to a well-pleased audience. When Prudence Darling, the school flirt, lures George McIntyre into her clutches, the entire familiarity of the crowd is disrupted. Each of the girls in the crowd resents Prudence's intrusion and proceeds to show her antagonism accordingly. A perfect evening of dancing for the young folks at the McIntyre home is rudely interrupted when George McIntyre strikes a traffic cop; and as a result he spends the night in jail. Mrs. McIntyre patiently and understandingly struggles along with her children, Terry and George, in their new experiences. Mr. McIntyre has successfully expounded the mysteries of the Latin language, but is incapable of coping with the problems of modern youth.

Jimmy, Bell-Boy	William Upshaw

Lilting lyrics, sparkling comedy, rollicking romance and glamorous choruses were molded into a superb hit, "The Prince of Pilsen," produced by the Great Falls high school music department.

Hans Wagner, a Cincinnati brewer, traveling in Europe with his daughter, Nellie, naively accepts the title of "Prince of Pilsen" thrust upon him by the mistaken citizens of Nice. This involves him in many ludicrous situations from an unexpected flop in a fountain to an hour in jail as an international spy. He also woos the captivating widow, Mrs. Crocker, much to the distress of Artie, Lord Somerset, her faithful, poodle-like suitor. Daughter Nellie does well for herself by conquering the heart of the real Prince of Pilsen, traveling incognito, while son Tom, Lieutenant of a U. S. Cruiser, and Edith Adams, a Vassar girl, express their love in the melting melody "The Message of the Violets." A minor crisis occurs when Tom and Prince Carl Otto impetuously draw swords in an unplanned duel and are whisked off to jail by the merciless gendarmes. Meantime, the conniving proprietor of the hotel entices a French maid, Sidonie, with promises of gay Paree; but the villain is frustrated by Jim, a bell-boy, who wins the maid.

The principals were ably supported by specialty dancers and choruses of colorful peasants, adventurous students, husky sailors, coquettish Vassar girls, coy maids, brisk waiters and curious tourists.

Under the efficient direction of Mr. Barr, the orchestra furnished delightful music between the acts and was applauded for its exceptional ability in following; Miss Ferris assisted with the music; Miss Clinton directed dramatics; Miss Murray, dancing; Miss Kimball, costuming; and Mr. Peck supervised the effective stage setting.

The hard-working cast was well repaid by the resounding cheers of the enthusiastic audience.

The Senate, organized in 1914, has the distinction of being the oldest club in school. Its intention as a boys' debating organization is to develop self-expression and forensics. Debating, speaking, and parliamentary law are featured. Under Mr. Micken, new sponsor of the Senate, the club calendar contained many activities. In preparation for Varsity Debate an intramural tournament was sponsored. The winners in this tournament were Clyde Courtnage and Bob Bangert. In the annual Senate-Forum Debate, the Senate team composed of Bill Scott and Harry Boetcher triumphed over the Forumites. The first school dance of the year usually put on by the Senate was called an Election Dance. An "After Game" dance, and a joint dancing party with the Forum were also held. The precedent of an annual Senate-Forum banquet was maintained again this year. The club had its accustomed "Hades" in the Booster Carnival. For the "Know Your Activities" assembly, the Senate presented a comical parade called, "The Senate Through the Ages." The year's activities came to a climax with a picnic for the Senators and their invited guests.

For the purpose of giving girls practice in debate, public speaking, and parliamentary procedure, The Forum was founded in 1920, under the sponsorship of Miss Mayme Murchie. It has the distinction of being the second oldest club in school. The constitution limits the membership to thirty-five girls.

Always an active club, The Forum this year has had a great many activities. Foremost among these were an amusing initiation party held at the Y. M. C. A., and the annual Senate-Forum Banquet which was this year carried out in a Thanksgiving motif. Later in the spring, The Senate and The Forum again joined together in a dancing party. The Varsity Extemporaneous Speaking Contest annually sponsored by The Forum was held, and bronze medals were awarded to the winners.

The traditional Senate-Forum debaters who upheld the negative were Persis Johnson and Helen Beth Severance. The debate question was: Resolved: That President Roosevelt Should be Reelected. The decision was in the favor of the affirmative. At the Booster Carnival, the club had a play. Different performances were given each evening. During Know Your Activities week, The Forum gave a skit satirizing its club meeting. In the spring, the annual dinner-picnic was held.

The Booster Club was organized about a dozen years ago to "cash in" on the by-products of the athletic games, thus furnishing additional revenue for athletics.

When the school moved to its present location, the school board furnished us a room in the building at the north end of the stadium as headquarters, and a large gas range was donated by the mother of one of the Boosters. Here we prepare and sell coffee, hot-dogs, peanuts, popcorn, candy, and souvenirs. We also prepare and dispense two gallons of orange juice to the football team between the halves of each home game. During the basketball season, we sell candy, peanuts, and pop.

At Christmas time we furnish the school its large tree fully decorated and give one of the outstanding dances of the year, the Booster Ball, in honor of the home-coming alumni.

Our biggest undertaking is the Booster carnival, in which every club in the school is invited to cooperate.

Every year since its inception, we have entered a float in The Roundup parade. As a grand finale, we have our annual picnic which is an almost guaranteed rainmaker.

The Boosters are proud to have been able to pay the last $500 towards the lighting equipment of the stadium; to furnish the electric score board in the gymnasium; and on different occasions to wipe out a deficit in the accounts of the Athletic Council. Moreover, we know that it would have been impossible to accomplish these things had it not been for the heartiest cooperation at all times of the school trustees, the superintendent, principal, faculty, and the entire student body.

The Hi-Y, now composed of forty junior and senior boys, has become one of the outstanding organizations in the school. Formed in 1928 to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school a high standard of Christian character, the club was of little importance or significance until 1932 when the membership quota was raised to accommodate from twenty-five junior and seniors to forty members.

The club meets every other Friday at a banquet at which time business of importance is discussed and a speaker is usually heard.

The Hi-Y has had two dances this year, the "Hard-Time Party" November third, and an Amateur Dance following the annual Hi-Y Amateur Assembly held in March. This year the winner was awarded a silver cup. Besides these activities, the club sponsors a booth in the Booster Carnival each year, and a float in the Roundup Day Parade.

In 1929, a club was organized to do the work required at the new high school in staging the various school productions. This group was known as the Tormentors Club. As need was soon found for an organization of boys to usher, the Tormentors Club was divided into two groups. The new group took the name of the House Division.

The House Division is a group of about forty members. It provides ushers and ticket sellers whenever requested for plays in the high school auditorium and also furnishes ushers for the reserved seat section in the stadium during the football season. The original Tormentors Club is now the stage craft class.

The French Club of the Great Falls high school was first organized in November, 1929, under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Leaming. That year there were evening meetings held bi-weekly. Then for several years the club work was carried on without a formal organization with membership dues. The club activities were presented in connection with classroom assignments; occasionally a whole class period was given over to a club program. During 1935-36 such a plan was followed. The club conducted an interesting marionette theatre at the Booster Carnival.

This year the school day was shortened to allow for club meetings during the afternoon. The French Club met the second and fourth Thursday of each month. Among the thirty-four members there were groups working on various projects of particular interest to them; the costuming and operating of marionettes, creative writing of plays for the marionette theater and the study of French life and literature.

Frequently a meeting was given over to good-fellowship and a feast of good things to eat. At almost every meeting some time was allowed either for community singing or the playing of games conducted in French, and the solution of French crossword puzzles.

On February 25, Miss Lampman of the art department gave an interesting "causerie" on the subject of French Canada, where she visited last summer. This talk was illustrated by pictures and proved so enjoyable that the club hopes to have more programs of a similar nature.

While the Great Falls branch of the N. F. L. has a limited membership, its activities do not bespeak of such. The quota of five hundred branches of the national organization is already filled. The membership is limited to those who excel in such speech activities as debate and extemporaneous speaking.

To become an N. F. L. member, one must receive fifteen debate points. In spite of the number of debates which Great Falls has each year, only a few new members are initiated each debate season.

An octagonal shaped key with the traditional lamp of knowledge and an open eye inscribed on it is the emblem of the society. Jewels are placed in the eye according to one's rank in number of points. The ruby is the highest honor which is awarded.

Last year a tournament was held in which students from several cities participated, but because of a heavy schedule this year no such tournament was planned. The N. F. L. was the sponsor of a vaudeville for a number of years, but the All-School Play took its place this year.

Extemporaneous Writing

One of the activities of the Quill and Scroll club this year was to sponsor the extemporaneous writing contest. Any student in high school was eligible to write. Students from each class participated in the first contest, and the best essay was selected from each group. The five highest in the second contest wrote a third time, competing with writers in Montana at a contest sponsored by the Bozeman State College. Entries were judged by state judges at the college, and the state winner received a scholarship.

The winners in each class who received medals were Harry Boetcher, senior; David Germain, junior; Robert Crowley, sophomore; and Dean Danforth, freshman.

Those receiving honorable mention were Betty Alt, Helen Franich, Mary Margaret Orr, Margaret Rubens, Sylvia Miller, Ethel Jean Miller, and Sue Perra.

The all-school winner this year was Harry Boetcher who wrote on "My First Chum." Other subjects used in the contest were the following: Most Useful Citizen in Town, Highway Regulations, Street Discussion of Politics, The Tired Business Man, People on Relief, How Can I Help the Cause of Peace? Saturday Afternoon on Main Street, Going to Sunday School, and Mountains in the Landscape.

Extemporaneous Speaking

Outstanding among speech activities held each year is the extemporaneous speaking contest sponsored annually by the Forum assisted by Mr. Ralph Micken, speech teacher. The event was held on April 5, 1937.

This year seventeen students participated in the contest. A choice of one of three subjects was afforded each person, and forty-five minutes was the time in which to prepare the talks. Five minutes was the minimum length of time set for the speech.

In the finals, which were held the same day, William Scott won first place; Helen Beth Severance, second place; and Heath Bottomly, third place.

Judges for the event were Miss Mary Leaming, Miss Jennie Porter, Miss Louise Geyer, Miss Helen McLaren, Mr. Cyril Hancock, Mr. Georges Le Roux, Mr. Don Bosley, and Mr. Victor Rowe.

Aileen Maguire, chairman of the Forum committee, secured material for the reference work and made the necessary arrangements for places in which to hold the contest. The subjects dealt with national and international governments.

Prizes were awarded at an assembly.

Varsity Debate

The debate season starts each year with an intramural tournament open to all students. This year twenty debaters were selected from this tournament, making the largest team in the history of the school.

The Senate presented gold medals to Bob Bangert and Clyde Courtnage for first places this year. Debate letters were given to those who made the National Forensic League requirements, which are fifteen points. These points are received for interscholastic debates.

The subject for debate this year was: Resolved, That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated.

The Quill and Scroll is an International Honorary Society for high school journalists. It was organized in this school in 1926. The society's emblem is a quill across a scroll.

The purpose of the club is to create further interest in the journalistic field and to give credit to those who are outstanding in journalism. At the present time it has thirty-one active members. In order to become a member, a student must have had one semester of journalism, must be in the upper third of his class scholastically, must be a member of the Iniwa staff, be recommended by his teacher in regard to character, and must be accepted by the national board. Quill and Scroll is the only international society in the Great Falls high school. This year the organization is again sponsoring the extemporaneous writing contest. Prizes are awarded to both the class winners and the all-school winners. The society also participated in the Booster Carnival.

The Biology Club of the Great Falls high school for the past eight years has been active in the school's scientific activities. Its chief purpose for organization was to further conscientious and advanced study of biology research.

Perhaps the most outstanding activity of the club this year has been the painting of the school conservatory windows. This was done to protect the plants from the extreme heat of the sun. Each window represents a stage in plant life, and each form of plant life is a step higher than the former. Lucille Remus drew the pictures for the windows, and George Arthur and Robert Nelson painted them.

Field trips were taken regularly. On such occasions the club collected specimens and returned to the school and classified them. The most successful trip of this year was taken to Harlowton where many interesting fossils were collected.

Each year the Biology Club sponsors a booth at the Booster Carnival. These have proved very successful. In other than school scientific activities, this club does not take an active part as its work requires most of the time and effort of its members.

The Biology Club "B" was organized in order to give more students an opportunity to become familiar with general nature study.

This club is one of the newly organized clubs of the school; the first meeting was held October 8, 1936, with Miss Pickering as sponsor.

A number of field trips were taken during the year. Sifting dirt for arrowheads and looking for fossils have been special diversions for the club.

A dance was given by the club January 8, 1937, which was a great success.

The Booster Carnival Option this year included selling leather animal souvenirs, throwing balls at wooden milk bottles, and throwing balls at a masked negro.

In order to belong to this club the student must be working for a major in science and must be taking or have taken a year of biology.

The Home Economics Club was organized February 15, 1933, and has been an active club since that time. At present there are fifty-two members. The purpose of the club is to give its members a happy, healthy girlhood, and to help each member improve herself.

Each year the club sponsors the Co-Ed Prom, which is the only all-girls' party of the high school year. The club operates the home-made candy booth at the Booster Carnival. At Christmas time there is a party, with Santa Claus, a tree, and gifts for all.

This year the club purchased a walnut desk and chair to be placed in the practice apartment and used as a business center for the club. The desk has space for filing all club materials.

One member, Margaret Erickson, took the State Course in News Writing for Vocational Students so that she might be better able to report the club activities to the state student club chairman.

The programs for the year have been varied. There have been talks, readings and plays by the members. Outside speakers gave talks on dishes, cheese, shoes and the hair and its care.

The club is a member of the Montana Home Economics Association and thereby affiliated with the American Home Economics Association. The members hope to be of service to their department, school, homes, community and the nation.

The Business Club was organized for several reasons. Through contacts with various business organizations, business men, and business activities, promotion of interest in the business world can be accomplished. In the meetings a social spirit among the commercial students is encouraged by offering opportunities for social contact. Members are also given the opportunity to express their ideas for the betterment of the club and other affairs.

One of the first activities of the club was sponsored by the Coco-Cola Bottling Company of this city. A series of picture slides along with comments entitled "Along Main Street" were shown. They depicted both the correct and wrong methods of conducting business.

Insomuch as the club is a business club, it is felt that the members should become acquainted with the proper way of conducting a formal business meeting; therefore, one meeting was devoted to parliamentary procedure.

A Business Club dance was held on March 10. It was a matinee dance.

A field trip was taken to the A. C M. Company which proved to be very interesting, as they have a new and different system of bookkeeping. There was a machine demonstration and various talks given by business men of Great Falls.

The Players was organized in the fall of 1934 in order to foster the interest of dramatics as a vehicle of education as well as a source of entertainment for those students interested in acting. The aim of the club was to promote better dramatics and afford a means of self-expression. Miss Louise Buck sponsored The Players its first year, and Miss Evelyn Clinton has done so this second year.

In order to give The Players an experienced membership, a sophomore section was formed. At the end of the year, those showing the most interest and active participation are recommended for the junior-senior section for the following year.

As productions for the year, The Players managed the make-up for "Growing Pains," helped with costumes and make-up for the "Prince of Pilsen," staged two plays in the assembly, gave a spring formal, operated a booth at the Booster Carnival, worked with radio programs and assisted with the Senior play.

A group of members of the make-up division studied and practiced make-up on each other. This group then assisted with the make-up for the operetta and the Senior play.

With the speech classes, The Players worked on radio plays with sound effects, producing "In the Dark" as its beginning program.

The Puppet Club, under the direction of Mr. Georges LeRoux, made puppets for and presented "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil."

The Patrol Squad, purely a service club, was organized four years ago by Wayman J. Williams for the purpose of patrolling the various activities of the high school as well as campus and hall traffic. A year later Mr. Gallagher took over the management of the club and enlarged its services by adding auto traffic, school plays, dances and other school activities where management was considered necessary.

In 1936 Mr. Jahr was appointed sponsor of the club and endeavored to regulate the traffic in the halls to a greater degree.

In all of the activities, the club has been in complete charge and received co-operation from the police department, the faculty of the high school and from the students.

This year the Patrol was made up of five squads, each having ten members and a captain. This tended to reduce the confusion of patrolling the football games and also made the work much easier. In appreciation for the patrolling of the athletic field, the Athletic Council feted the Patrol to a fine dinner.

In looking forward to years to come, the squad is not satisfied with its present organization, but hopes to make the club bigger and better, hence, of greater service to the students of Great Falls high school.

The club was reorganized this year by Mr. Bailey who has been the sponsor for the past four years. Under his capable leadership the club has made rapid progress toward its goal of "all members amateurs."

Meetings are held every Tuesday afternoon; at this time discussions on various problems confronting the experimenter are held.

Late last fall a highly successful dance was held. The club also participated in the Booster Carnival.

Office Duty

This club, sponsored by Miss Grace Reading, has been in existence eight years. It is open to any boy or girl of the junior and senior classes and gives the members an opportunity to gain knowledge of office routine. Following definite daily schedules, each member of the organization is expected to work in the office at least one hour each day.

Checking attendance, answering telephone calls, delivering messages, running errands, and office filing comprise the duties of the members. By having student help in the office, attendance can quickly and accurately be checked, also telephone calls and messages can be taken and delivered immediately.

The efficiency acquired in office work aids the school work of the members. As a result of office work, which calls for meeting the public on friendly, business-like terms, a student gains poise and self-confidence.

The Young Authors' Club was organized in 1931 to provide a means of publishing a literary magazine each year. Since then, under the sponsorship of Miss King, the club has helped to write and publish the "Bisonette."

This year the Young Authors' Club has been one of the most active in our school, and among its varied program numbers, the club-talent assembly was a decided success. Two plays, "Here Today, Gone Tomorrow," or "If There's Any Room Behind the Eighth Ball, Move Over," written by Eleanor Salmenson, and "Unheralded Genius," by Kathryn Steinbach, were presented by the members of the club. Between the plays, Sylvia Miller and Patti Hadley gave original readings.

The club had one purely social meeting each semester, and among other activities were a booth in the Booster Carnival and a week-end jaunt to Patti Hadley's cabin in the mountains.

This year the club was made up entirely of girls, and although it is too small to stage dances, contests, or banquets, it has its share of talent. Kathryn Steinbach leads in dramatics, Eleanor Salmenson is the star dancer, while Phyllis Brees is in a class of her own with her singing.

During the past year the club has made significant progress under the able leadership of Miss King.

Library Duty

The Library Club is one of the service groups of the school. The members are those who work in the school library one period each school day. Their work consists of having charge of the circulation desk and reserve room, mending books, filing and checking the current magazines and papers, and taking lessons in the elementary principles of library science under the direction of Miss Louise Geyer, librarian.

This work serves as apprenticeship and background for future library training should the members care to follow that career.

Each year a Book Reading Contest is held among the assistants. The winner receives a book of her own choice.

Last year for the first time the assistants entered a float in the annual Roundup Day Parade.

The purpose of this club is to sponsor the Junior Red Cross membership drive in the high school, and thereby carry on welfare activities connected with the school and community in general; also to become more familiar with the work of the Red Cross and to earn Red Cross First Aid certificates.

The Junior Red Cross Club is one of the youngest clubs in the school. It was organized October 8, 1936.

The club's major activities are the Junior Red Cross membership drive, sending Thanksgiving baskets to needy families, and assisting the Senior Red Cross when necessary. It also shows kindness to hospitalized students. Food for Thanksgiving baskets was donated by children in all of the city schools, and this food was sorted and distributed by Junior Red Cross members to needy families in the community. Junior Red Cross club members collected $108 from the high school students for the Flood Relief. For minor activities, the Red Cross Club made favors for the small boys at the State Vocational School. These favors were sent for Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

Club members also kept advisers informed of students absent on account of serious or lengthy illness, and the advisory class sent flowers, fruit and magazines to these students.

The club had a "Red Cross Canteen" at the Booster Carnival to help increase their funds for these various services.

The purpose of the Agora Club is to promote interest in present-day subjects of universal appeal by submitting such topics to members for open, informal discussion.

The club was organized in the spring of 1936 at the suggestion of Miss Jeanette Garver, teacher of American History, and through the ambition of thirteen juniors to find out through group discussion more than history texts or "American Observer" could relay to them on the importance of "Today in World Affairs." Since the chartering of the club, membership has been rigidly limited to twenty-five. Membership is available to either juniors or seniors, but to no underclassmen.

This year such topics were discussed as: Roosevelt and Landon, Initiative and Referendum Measures, Flood Control, Astrology and Palmistry, School Problems, Proposed Revision of the Executive and Judicial Departments of the Federal Government, Communism in Russia, Our Crime Situation, Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws, and Redrawing State Lines.

Besides the bi-monthly meetings, special meetings were held at Neihart and Big Falls, where business and pleasure were mixed to the super-enjoyment of all. The annual get-together banquet was held at the Meadow Lark Country Club and attended by the members 100 per cent—which is something in the way of progress for any organization. The Agorians also sponsored a confetti booth at the Booster Carnival which was most successful.

By increasing its size to seven columns, the Iniwa became the only high school paper in the state of Montana to have that many columns. A seven-column Iniwa has been the dream of every Iniwa staff since the paper's inception. However, in order to maintain the extra column, it was necessary to ask the Student Association for more money. A successful fight was waged and the Iniwa was granted an extra $10 an issue.

Each year the Iniwa enters several contests: The N. I. P. A. at Grand Forks, North Dakota; the N. S. P. A., a national contest, and the Montana state contest at Missoula in May. This year in the N. I. P. A. contest, the Iniwa was judged the best newspaper in its class, the best newspaper in the contest, and was awarded the Matrix trophy for the best woman-edited newspaper and the William Preston plaque as the best printed paper.

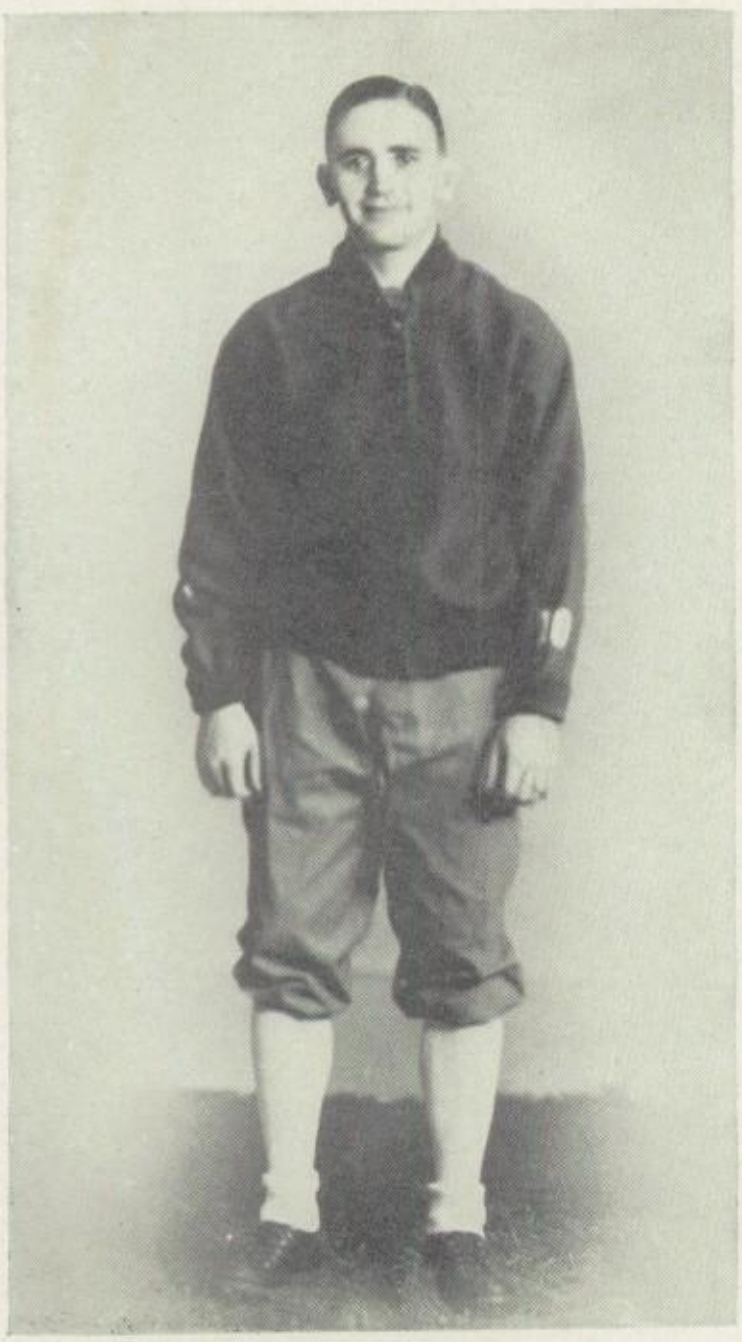
STATE CHAMPIONS

Football 1936



COACH HODGES

To Coach Hodges goes the honor of being the first mentor to bring a state football championship to Great Falls. The winning of the championship in this his third year as head coach climaxed five years of skillful planning and careful training dating back to the time when he coached the nucleus of his present powerhouse assemblage in junior high. From those junior high days on, Hodges and his boys have been a combination so invincible that this year's crowning achievement was inevitable.

HODGES. BOFTO. HORN. PAULSEN. RENNING. CROUCH. SCHULTZ

Bison Coaching Staff

Hodges, the biggest little coach in the state, was ably supported in his guiding the Bisons to the championship by Eino Bofto, the new line coach. Bofto, who took over the berth previously filled by Art Neill, came from Maupin, Oregon, where he was head coach.

Carl Horn, to whom is entrusted the destinies of the Bison Reserves, has completed his second successful year in fulfilling that trust.

C. L. Paulsen develops the skill and brawn with which the Bison wrestlers consistently win state honors in their sport.

Bill Renning is trainer and godfather to the Bison squads. Charlie horses, sore muscles, and stomachaches fade away at his skillful touch.

Former head coach at Great Falls, M. L. Crouch has charge of boys' gym classes and is the Bison track coach.

Future champions are discovered and nurtured by Harry L. Schultz, who shows ambitious freshmen just what a football is.

Championship Game

Within 66 seconds after the opening gun, Butte had scored from a Bison fumble and Great Falls had come back with an 89-yard run to lead 7 to 6.

After this sensational beginning, the game settled down to sterling football by both teams. The Bisons' vigorous offense carried them across the Butte goal three more times. Tense moments came in the fourth quarter when the powerhouse turned to a stone wall and held the Bulldogs for four downs on the one-yard line.

The final score was 25 to 6.

For the first time in its history, Great Falls had won the State Football Championship.

The Team

Eleven stars coordinating as a perfect machine formed the Bison state championship team. But, even though he had such an unusual gathering of individual talent at his disposal, Coach Hodges constantly emphasized team work. There were no stars. All worked together as a team and what they have done is now glorious history.

In the backfield were four players who were given All-State recognition. Dow earned a half-back position on the first All-State team; Krsul and Olson were placed on the second; and Sabol received Honorable Mention.

Dow, at half-back, was known for his powerful plunging. Olson was a fast, shifty runner. Krsul was an outstanding blocking back. Sabol was a utility man. Seelinger, Ferda, and Tramelli, playing their first year in varsity, were real competition for regular line-up.

Many stars shone in the line. Captain Bordsen at end, Ball at guard, and Follick at tackle were on the first All-State team. On the second All-State team were Volkman, end; Maffit, guard; and Anderson, tackle. Captain-elect Reid, center, and Mann, center, were given Honorable Mention.

Other members of the team were Cameron at center; Duley, Jones, Ranquet, and Nelson at guard; Folsom, Hanson, and Venetz at tackle; and Talcott, Garske, and Stafford at end.

Captain Bordsen, who played end, was also offensive quarter-back.

The Bisons were outstanding for teamwork and power. The plan of play on the offensive emphasized power. The most common play was an off-tackle plunge. Although the team would rather drive to victory than take the risk of passing, they did show an effective passing attack in one game, resulting in a score of 66-0.

In defensive play, too, the power of the team was a determining factor. In the entire season, no touchdown was ever made through the sturdy line. Realizing this great strength, the opponents of Great Falls used an aerial attack. The Bisons countered with a defense which, in the final game, not only forced down more than half the attempted passes, but also intercepted three of those passes.

The most noteworthy fact of the 1936 season was, of course, the winning of the State Championship. But this brilliant season was remarkable in several other respects. The Bisons played an unusually long and hard season of nine games in addition to the championship game. Also, in their game with North Central of Spokane, Great Falls played its first out-of-state game in ten years. Actually, the season also was dull. No team except Butte offered any real competition. Great Falls won each game with ease. Its goal was crossed only four times and for every point made by an opponent, Great Falls rolled up over fourteen points.

The saddest fact of the season was that it was the last game for no less than seventeen members of the squad.

Reserve Football

The season of the Baby Bisons compares favorably with that of the Thundering Herd. Of their six games, they dropped only one, and that by a score of 6 to 0. They made a total of 106 points to their opponents' twelve, or almost nine points to their opponents' one. Only twice was their goal line crossed.

Using a different system of play from that of the first string, they emphasized the same running system of attack. Off-tackle plays were most frequent. Reverses were also used quite effectively. Few passes were attempted.

For the first quarter of the Browning game, little headway was made. After that, however, it was an easy Great Falls game. Many substitutions were made. The final score was 39 to 0 for Great Falls. Another even game was played against Belt. Both teams were often within scoring distance, but it was only in the last of the game that Belt scored a win 6 to 0.

Once more Great Falls met even opponents in the game against Cut Bank. A Great Falls score in the first quarter balanced a Cut Bank score in the last quarter. The result was 6 to 6.

Against the Havre Reserves, the Bison scored an easy victory. More substitutes were used in this than in any other game. Great Falls won 34 to 0.

The hardest fought game of the season was against Big Sandy. With very little substituting, the Reserves won 13 to 0.

Against Fort Benton, the Baby Bisons showed defense tactics. One score was made through an intercepted pass, and another through a blocked kick. Great Falls won by 14 to 0.

Again, the reserve team proved itself a good training ground for future Bison Champions. Those who are expected to be moved up to the first team next year are: Blankenhorn, Doran, Dunn, Furstenau, La Salle, McPherson, Mulvaney, O'Connell, O'Mahoney, Batzer, Nolvanko, and Mervin Anderson.

Freshman Football

Our first year football team showed during the season that it has that something necessary for another championship team. Their season, though short, was successful. They were undefeated. They showed real playing ability.

The system of play used by the Frosh squad again utilized reverses and employed a passing attack that is sure to be a real factor in the games these boys play later on.

They won over their traditional rivals, Junior High, in an easy game. The final score was 26 to 0, and many substitutes were used.

At Fort Benton, the Freshmen played a team which, with the exception of two members, was the regular squad. This game was hard fought. Fort Benton led until the final quarter when the Great Falls players were able to roll up three touchdowns. They won with a score of 20 to 7.

Later on, a team which was part regulars and part reserves played against Belt in a practice session. The game ended with three touchdowns for each team. It is notable, however, that one of the touchdowns was scored when the team was composed entirely of Freshmen.

Those players who earned numerals for their season of Freshman football were: Alexander, Anderson, Benedict, Connell, Curtis, Eaton, Fish, Gleason, Hall, Haffner, Kelly, Lindholm, McInnis, Mitchell, Paul, Rossmiller, Sax, Smith, Toole, Upshaw, Withers, Robinson, and Maberry.

Lettermen

Letters are awarded to athletes, not on the basis of the number of quarters they have played, but on their proved value to the team.

Five members of the state champion football squad demonstrated their value and received letters in recognition for three consecutive seasons. They are Captain R. Bordsen, Captain-elect W. Reid, D. Ball, K. Dow, and C. Follick. D. Maffit, B. Talcott, J. Krsul, R. Anderson, R. Olson, R. Mann, and F. Stafford have earned letters for two years, and R. Duley, M. Sabol, L. Seelinger, B. Jones, G. Ferda, M. Folsom, and J. Garske won their first letters this year.

In this year's basketball squad G. Adams was the only two-year letterman. All the other players, B. Talcott, R. Cummings, B. McPherson, L. Seelinger, C. Follick, and F. Mulvaney were in the game for their first year.

G. Caples received a letter for three years' service as manager.

Two trackmen, R. Britton and F. Stafford, earned letters in this sport last season.

Basketball

With George Adams, the only veteran from last year's championship squad, as a nucleus, Coach Hodges built his basketball team for 1937. George was the Bison's high point man for the season and ranked as one of the best high school forwards in the state.

The other regular forward position was held by Bud Seelinger. Bud is only a sophomore and because of his fine showing this year is expected to go places next year.

Ralph Cummings, a junior, proved himself one of the best jumpers in the state by securing the tip-off most of the time for the Bisons. Cummings will be better than ever next season with a year's experience behind him.

Charles Follick, all-state tackle for the 1936 championship football squad, proved his versatility by playing a fine game as guard. Follick is a senior and will graduate this year.

Burt Talcott played the other guard position. Burt was as adept at snatching the basketball from his opponents' hands as he was at snaring the pigskin on the football field. He is a junior this year.

Bud Mulvaney, flashy forward, makes up for his lack of size by playing a fast, aggressive game. Bud is another junior who will return next year.

Benny Stevens played center on the reserves at the opening of the season, but showed so much promise that he was moved to the first squad for the remainder of the season. He will also be available next year.

CUMMINGS, TALCOTT, FOLLICK, ADAMS, MCPHERSON, SEELINGER

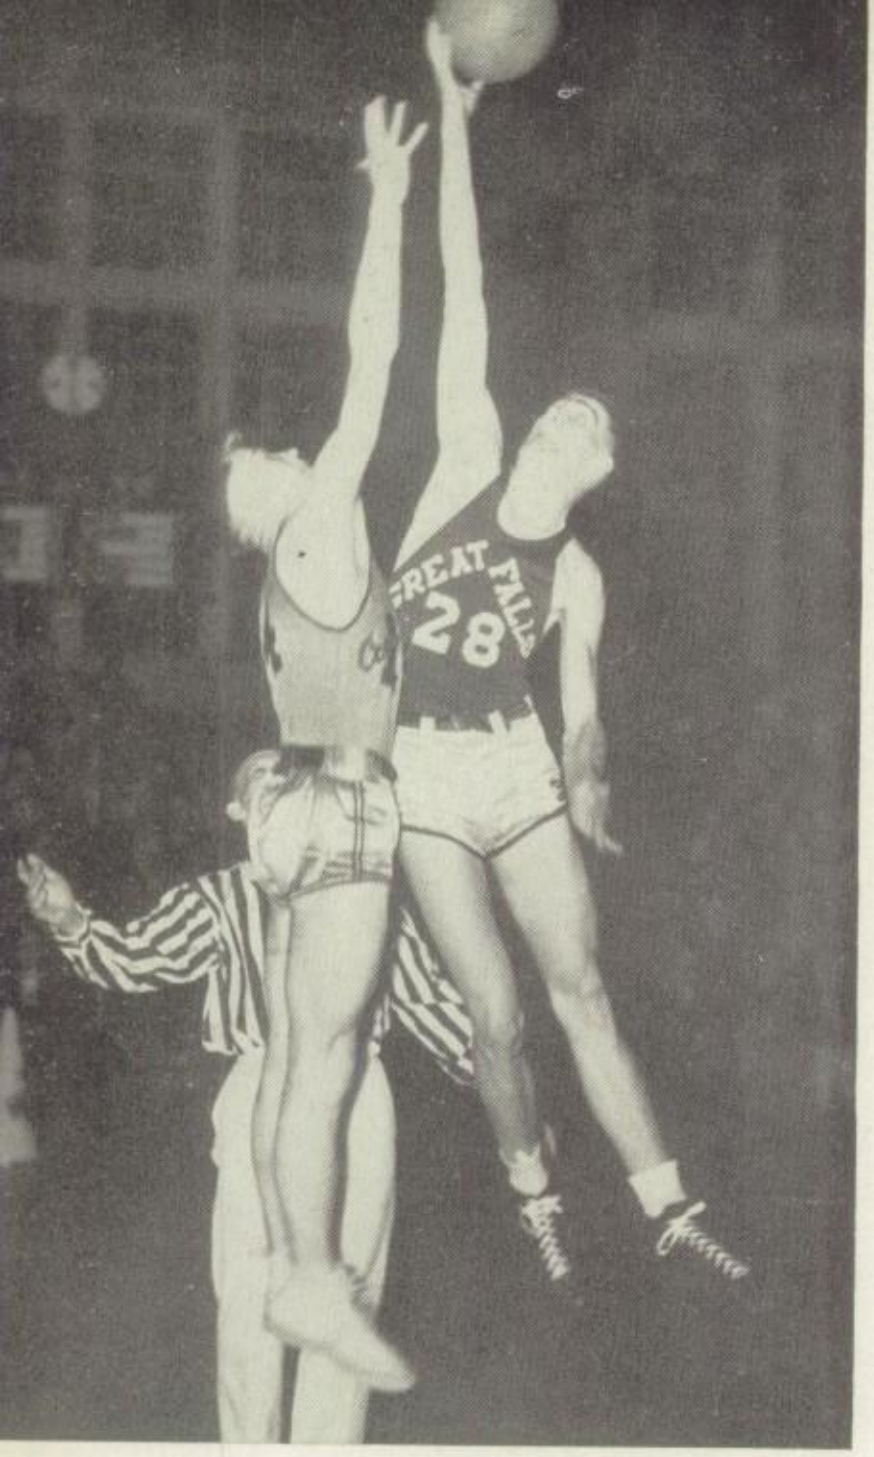
The Season

Great Falls started its basketball season with many disadvantages. Since the Bisons were defending champions, the other teams were naturally out to "get" them. But their greatest disadvantage was the inexperience of the players. Only one member remained of last year's championship team, and he had had little game experience. The rest were all new players.

With this green team and after only a few days of preliminary practice, the Bisons ventured into the North to open their season with a three-game series against Cut Bank, Whitefish, and Kalispell. The first two games, those against Cut Bank and Whitefish, were disastrous, but the experience gained in them enabled the Bisons to triumph over Kalispell by a close margin after an overtime period.

A week later Great Falls invaded the southern part of the state. Again the first two games were dropped, but both only after bitter battles. The Helena game was settled only in the last few seconds of play, and the Livingston game was forced into an overtime period. Smarting from these narrow-margined defeats, the Bisons then stepped over to Billings where they again carried the game to an overtime period but this time to win.

Without pause for rest they then scuttled back North again the same week and defeated Chinook. At Havre, the next night, however, they were in turn defeated by the goat-conscious Ponies.



ACTION IN THE ANACONDA-GREAT FALLS GAME

Again in their next trip the Bisons lost. They were defeated by Butte and Anaconda. The latter game ran to an overtime period.

The next week the Bisons opened their home games with a tilt against Whitefish. On this return game, the Bisons showed great improvement and defeated Whitefish in a hard-fought game. Against Butte also the following night, the Bisons were victorious.

Hopes were rising rapidly for another championship team when the Great Falls boys defeated Helena substantially and later took Lewistown into camp. But on the following week, hopes were again dashed. Havre beat the Bisons, thus securing the goat for the first time in six years, and Livingston added another defeat.

However, the season closed with a final flourish of Great Falls victories. Billings was beaten with a margin of five points, Kalispell was swamped in the flow of Bison scores, and in their last scheduled game, Anaconda was defeated by an almost four to one score.

With this successful ending to their regular season, the Bisons traveled to Havre for the Northern division tournament. In their first game of the tournament, they beat Kalispell by 27 to 25. They next upset Missoula by 31 points to 24. But on the final night, playing for the district championship with the veteran Havre Ponies, they were defeated. The score was 14 to 23.

Great Falls thus placed second in the tournament, to add another trophy in basketball.

Reserve Basketball

Reserve squads have but one purpose: to give as many players as much experience as possible. This purpose was admirably achieved by Coach Bofto and his men this season. A large squad was given experience in many games.

The first game of the season was played against Highwood, and was a victory for Great Falls. It was an easy game, and ended 28-11. This was followed by a game against Browning in which the Bisons were defeated by a score of 15-32. Although the Bisons played with determination, their inexperience was too great a factor against them.

The next week the Bisons played against Fort Benton, and in a very close and exciting game were defeated by a score of 20-19. In their next game, they played against Belt. Again inexperience was a determining factor, and the Bisons lost with a 35-18 count. On the following night, Great Falls played a close game against Denton, resulting in a score of 15-13 in favor of Denton.

The last two games of the season were played on the following week when Great Falls lost return games with Fort Benton and Belt by scores of 34-16 and 32-20 respectively.

At the close of this interscholastic season, the Bisons played additional games in two leagues. In the Y. M. C. A. league, they won five games. Later, in the recreational league, the Bisons defeated well over half their opponents. This gained them additional experience and showed that the boys really can play.

This year proved a training ground for much promising material for the next year's first team. Those who earned their letters for the year were J. Safransky, D. Green, R. Crowley, J. Ranquet, W. McInnis, R. Noble, J. Hume, O. Jacques, R. Smith, D. Nicholls, R. Fursteneau, and W. Dunn.

Track Season 1936

In a meet characterized by the shattering of many records, Great Falls tracksters of '36 captured first honors in the Northern Montana Interscholastic track meet at Havre by piling up fifty-three and three-fourths points to their nearest competitor's twenty.

A. Ellis established a new record of 2:11.8 for the half mile. Another Bison, Millious, took second in the same event.

In the low hurdles R. Britten, considered one of the best low hurdlers in the state, won easily in the time of 29:2. Murphy placed second. In the 100-yard dash, Britten took third and Murphy fourth.

Stafford took a first for Great Falls with a time of 5:08 in the mile, and Emerson garnered a second in the 440. A team composed of Britten, Murphy, Sumpter, and Ellis won the half mile relay.

In the pole vault L. Seelinger tied for first and Boyington placed third. Bonahoom hurled the javelin to a first and Maffit speared third in the event. Second and third places in the high jump were captured by Bouman and Cummings respectively.

TOP ROW: BRIDGES, BROWN, NESS, MILLER, YOUNG, LOTTS.

BOTTOM ROW: BORDSEN, MAFFIT, STAFFORD, BRITTEN, ROBERTSON, OLSON.

In the Montana Relays held at Great Falls, Butte tied with Great Falls for first place. Each earned two cups. Great Falls easily won the two-mile relay with a team composed of R. Ellis, F. Stafford, R. Millious, and J. Murphy. A new record of 2:11 in the medley relay was set by Britten, Sumpter, Emerson, and Ellis running as teammates.

Coach Crouch took eight tracksters to Missoula for the annual Montana trip State Track Meet. Those who earned the trip were Ellis, Stafford, Britten, Murphy, Emerson, Millious, Bonahoom, and Adams.

Ellis placed third in the half-mile event, and Murphy placed fifth in the low hurdles. In the mile Stafford and Ellis placed fourth and fifth respectively.

This year only two lettermen, Britten and Stafford, will be with the team. Other likely contenders will be Seelinger, Maffit, Ball, Alphano, Eaton, Cummings, Angermier, Follick, Boyington, Adams, Peckenham, Harris, and Dunn.

Wrestling

Mr. Paulsen's wrestlers climaxed another highly successful season by taking first in eight out of nine matches and second in the other at the state tournament sponsored by the North Montana College at Havre.

This is the fourth consecutive year that Great Falls has dominated the state wrestling tournament. In these four years, the Bisons have dropped only two matches.

Previous to the state tournament, the local wrestlers held two meets with Belt. Out of sixteen matches, the Great Falls boys won fifteen.

Of this year's squad, the majority are graduating. Most of them have been wrestling for several years. Robert Olson has wrestled in the state tournament for four years. Ray Duley has held the 165-pound championship of the state for three years. Walter Peck, Joe Pahl, Campbell Noble, Jack Scotson, and Mills Folsom have won state championships in their respective weight classes for two years. Roy Sandvig, Norman Dalbec, and Frank Drga won their first state titles this year.

This year's champions and their weight classifications are: 95 pounds, Norman Dalbec; 105 pounds, Campbell Noble; 115 pounds, Jack Scotson; 125 pounds, Roy Sandvig; 135 pounds, Joseph Pahl; 145 pounds, Robert Olson; 165 pounds, Ray Duley; and 185 pounds, Frank Drga. Walter Peck, in the 155-pound class, won second place.

Tennis and Golf

During the 1936 tennis season, the school sponsored a tournament for boys and one for girls. About twenty-five boys and thirty-five girls took part. In the boys' tournament, John Vickers, Robert Nelson, Robert Boyington, and David Hegland survived to the semi-finals. Vickers defeated Boyington, and Hegland outplayed Nelson to come into the finals. Hegland in turn triumphed over Vickers and was awarded the cup as the school singles champion.

The girls' champion was never determined. When school ended, the tournament had reached only the semi-finals and Pat Wethered, Rachael Bovee, and Ruth Hugos were still in the race.

Slightly earlier in the season, Great Falls sent Russell Booth, Arthur Merrick, and Robert Nelson to Missoula to compete in the state interscholastic meet. Booth and Merrick entered the doubles matches, and Nelson played in the singles. They played well, but were defeated by some of the outstanding players of the state.

The school awards a cup to the school champion and gives a letter to any player who reaches the semi-finals in a state meet. With increased interest, awards should be more liberal in the future.

Paul Sechena, Eddie Wren, and Joe Mares represented Great Falls in the state golf tournament. Sechena won the state championship by defeating Maddock of Butte. He defeated his opponent by a margin of eight strokes. Joe Mares won fifth place for Great Falls.

Girls' Athletics Association

Feeling the need of some means of bringing the athletics program to more girls, Miss Lillian Murray, new girls' athletics instructor, organized the Girls' Athletics Association early this year. Miss Louise Geyer, librarian, was named co-sponsor. Not since 1932 has Great Falls had such an organization. At that time it was called the Girls' Athletics Club and was sponsored by Miss Ruth Nickey.

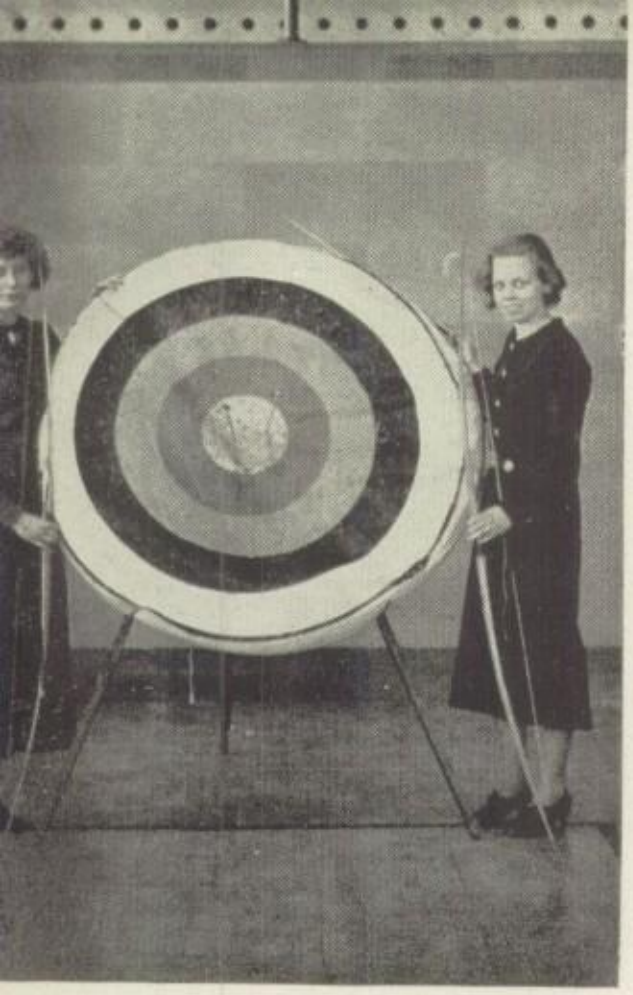
To start the present association each advisory elected a girl as its representative. These representatives became the charter members. Other girls become members as they earn a required number of points by participating in various sports. Hours spent in any athletic activity from roller skating to ping pong count toward the point requirement.

The association encourages popular participation in sports by sponsoring tournaments in basketball, volley ball, tennis, soft ball, and other games.

Headed by an executive council of nine, the association operated with a membership of fifty-four this year. The council includes the four elected officers and five appointed chairmen. The members of the board this year were Maria Downs, president; Rachael Bovee, vice president; Dorothy Huber, secretary; LaVerne Stenko, treasurer; Leona Cottrell, social chairman; Helen Risley, basketball chairman; Ruth Hugos, volley ball; Gene Norby, winter sports; Edith Wise, indoor sports.

Operating under a constitution drawn up by the officers and a representative from each class, the association meets the first Monday of each month.

Girls' Athletics



GRACE SWANSON. NORMA BARRETT

The G. A. A., when established, became the central organization which fosters all girls' athletics activities, whether curricular or extra-curricular. Through its system of awards and its requirements for membership, greater zeal has been stimulated in regular class time activities as well as in intra-mural contests.

Regular gym-class work avoids formal drill and calisthenics and is devoted to competitive sports, both indoor and outdoor. Most popular indoor games are volleyball and basketball, and proficiency in either is rewarded highly by the G. A. A. Other favored indoor activities are folk dancing and archery. Archers not only learn to put an arrow into the bulls-eye of a target, but also acquire poise and precision. Grace and good posture are essential to skill in the William Tell art. Archery has long commanded the interest of a large group which had been organized as one of the largest clubs in school. Now, however, the club exists only as a branch of the parent G. A. A.

ARCHERS

When weather permits, gym classes adjourn to the tennis courts and playing fields for tennis and soft ball. Tennis addicts are given credit toward G. A. A. awards for class hours spent in the game and also for placing in the all-school tournaments.

Most girls are enthusiastic over soft ball and spring as the perfect formula. Often the lusty feminine cheering for some lady Babe Ruth who has struck a three-bagger brings pangs of envy to the students cooped inside the classrooms.

Since Great Falls girls enter into no athletic competition with girls of other schools, the athletic program is free of any tendency to overstress any one or two sports or to overtrain a few skilled players. The sole purpose is to provide as wide a range of activities as possible for as many girls as possible. Girls who participate do so, not with any desire to gain popular acclaim as a star, but purely for the fun of the game and the personal gain in health, dexterity, and self-discipline that comes from playing any game well. They realize the relation of a healthy body to a healthy mind and revel in the opportunity their play affords to develop all-around health and sportsmanship. They have the modern girl's conviction that she does not have to be anemic to be a lady—quite the opposite.

Toward this goal of developing all-around womanhood the G. A. A., as the guiding spirit of all girls' athletics activities, is contributing much.

Each of the seven girls pictured on the opposite page was chosen by Miss Murray as the best members of the gym classes.

Roundup Day

The West lives again! Roundup Day is here! Groups of gaily-dressed cowboys, miners, gamblers, and Indians again revive those fading scenes reminiscent of the West. Old-Timers relived the days when the cowboy was king of the plains and the bison was king of them all.

Programs were enjoyed in classrooms during every period. At lunch hilarious entertainment was furnished by a Hill-Billy Band. At the Annual Roundup Day Assembly, the audience was in an uproar at such features as cow-milking and pie-eating contests, and the traditional square dance in which only seniors participated. An old-fashioned "Melerdramer" followed by community singing and old time dance music ended the program. The speeches by the class president which centered around the superiority of each class were delivered by Clifford Rumford for the seniors; Lester Hogan for the juniors; Doris Eliason, for the sophomores; and Eleanor Erickson, for the freshmen.

Following the assembly all gathered on Central Avenue for the parade. With most of the classes, clubs, advisory rooms, and students sponsoring floats or simply marching in western costumes, the parade was easily the largest and most colorful Roundup Day has ever had. In the parade were seen floats depicting "Sports through the Ages," Sacajawea, Vigilantes, Barn Dance, Poison Water-hole, Burning at the Stake, and many others. The parade was led by a portion of the high school band and throughout its length there were two other bands which added to the color of the parade. At intervals the students could be seen marching in their costumes in competition for the many prizes. Numerous students were fortunate enough to secure horses, adding much to the atmosphere of the day. The procession terminated in a display of old-fashioned automobiles. Prizes consisted of $50 in cash and many merchant's prizes for best floats and individual costumes.

In the evening the students, still in western garb, gathered west of the campus around a large bonfire and sang old-time songs. As the spirit of the old west grew in each student, they joined in a pow-wow and war dance around the fire. The celebration was climaxed by the burning of effigies, portraying such characters as "The Faculty," "Old Man Homework," and "Ye Fiend, Detention." As the bonfire died to glowing embers, the crowd trailed off into the night to the Hi School Gym for the old time Roundup Dance.

As the curtains were drawn on this brilliant festival, it was truly "The Last Roundup" for our departing Seniors.

The committee in charge of Roundup Day were Joe Gannon, chairman, Ward Junkermier, Ray Huntsberger, Leona Taylor, Carol Doherty, Conrad LaSalle, Bertha Johnson, Irene Zins, Kemp Toole, Mary Addison, Floyd Chapman, Helen Franich, and Don Becker.

Will of the Class of 1937

We, the Seniors of the Class of 1937, being of lawful age, and of sound and disposing mind and memory (we hope) and acting under no undue influence whatsoever, yet considering the uncertainty of this frail and transitory life, do make, publish, and declare this to be our last WILL and TESTAMENT, hereby revoking all former WILLS by us made.

In the name of God, Amen:

I. It is our will that this Senior Body be given a respectable burial, such as is befitting persons of our exalted estate and honorable position.

II. We order and direct that our executors hereinafter named pay all our just debts and funeral expenses from any sense we may have accumulated.

III. We bequeath all the glories and honors won by us to the succeeding classes. To the Juniors we leave the awe with which the Freshmen regard us, and also our seats in the auditorium; to the Sophomores, our dignity if it won't be too much of a strain; to the Freshmen, the sweet oblivion with which we conducted ourselves when underclassmen.

Individually, the following Seniors desire to bequeath their special personal characteristics or property to the best qualified underclassmen. Joan Anderson bequeaths her wifely virtues to any eligible female; Evelyn Taylor, leaves her haircut to Marian Edwards. Joan Kennard gladly gives her freckles to Mercades Madden. John Boor's spats go to David Brown; Dick Ball's conceit, to Bob Williams; Pep Coolidge's lusty lungs to Stubby Doran; Carol Doherty's dancing feet, to Lorraine Mahon; Elsie Espelin's height, to Erma Hoffman; June Robertson's diminutive stature to Clarnell Stage; Mary Harris's sophistication, to Margaret Conway. To Dorothy Rule is given Jeanice Taylor's gorgeous voice; for Ardis Randall is left Eleanor Swerdfeger's job of drum majoring; to Persis Johnson, sister Julia confers her gigantic intellect. Evelyn Lindstrom mournfully bestows her cherished kittenish actions on Mary Frances McDonnell. "Al" Tuss yields his bowling ability to Ed Karlovich. Chuck Gruter's hot piano playing goes to Sonny Page; Ruth Stanley's dignity, to Barbara Devney; Mary Pope's boosting ability, to "Sis" Graham; Joleen Brigg's vitality, to Ida May Garrison; Bob Jackson's acting ability, to Curtis Harris. With great reluctance Bill Scott relinquishes his pugilistic talents and squirt gun to Ben Stephens.

IV. The remainder of our estate, of every kind and character, real or imaginary, we bequeath to the Junior Class to do with as it wills, save and except that we wish to reserve the right to retain all pleasant memories of our life as a class the last four years and to forget any unpleasantnesses.

V. We hereby appoint Miss Helen Ross and Mr. Victor Rowe the joint executors of this our last WILL and TESTAMENT to act without bond and necessarily without responsibility.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF we have hereunto set our hand and seal this 3rd day of June 1937 A. D.

THE CLASS OF 1937.

THE LITERARY BOARD OF
THE ROUNDUP.

A Pipe Dream

One dark night in China Town
Hovered two lone shapes of great renown.
Two super sleuths were out to look
Into the matter of a mighty crook.
V. Sherlock Rowe and H. Watson Ross
Were out to find a diamond loss.
From the pent house of Sir Pinkleton Vice
Was stolen this treasure of precious ice.
"Aha!" they cried, "just look in thar
I see a man with a suspicious scar."
So into the Tea House of Hung-Far-Lo
They enter with caution, quiet and slow;
They sit at a table and play Mah-jong,
But they do not hear the strike of a gong
Which signals a waiter to put in their pipes
A few strong doses of opium snipes.
They smoke and they doze and to them does appear
A vision of beauty and memories so dear.
A magnificent night club, Clarence George is the boss;
You can tell from his clothes he's making no loss.
But listen, he speaks. What does he say?
He's merely wishing them all a good day.
He signals for Sandvig's swing-band to start,
A band well known for its musical art.
Throckmorton and Simmons, Pappas and Mann
Soltez, and Mitchel, Vickers, and Moran,
Bill Galt and John Klaboe his orchestra make,
For swing and hot rhythm they've got what it takes.
Said the night club's proprietor in his resume,
"That's Gable Adams, greatest lover of today,
And Bonahoome Bonahoom that famous French Star
Who's admired and loved by men near and far."
Now enters a couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Graham;
Bernice Gollehon was dear wifey's maiden name.
The people all rise; their look is quite reverent,
For here is Charles Follick, United States president.
His secretaries behind him are only three strong,
Of wine, Cooper; of Women, Kowatch; and Boetcher, of Song.
To do a singing act here're the twins, Jean and Jane;
They're Ziegfeld's loss, but certainly our gain.
To people Ray Duley brings sadness or joy
For he's Western Union's head messenger boy.
Babs Perry and Bob Scotson are now Mr. and Mrs.
With hot dogs and mustard they have a good business.

Jim Funk and Betty Newton are romancing again;
From far-off Tibet they've just come by plane.
(Miss Ray and van Teylingen, famed opera stars,
Do a wonderful job scaling musical bars.)
Say Steinbach and Rittenhouse, whose book you'll soon see
Called "While Waiting for Benny to Play the Bee."
All smokers are using Les Howard's ash tray
That hangs on the cigarette, in hues blue and gray.
Don Stanfield, the Commander-in-Chief of this land,
Has made himself famous by Stanfield's last stand.
Reach a man's heart thru his stomach, the latest platform
Headed by Helen Franich, takes the country by storm.
Florence Kleiv is leading a sit-down strike;
Gold Diggers will soon get just what they like.
To Chile, South America, the United States has sent
Genevieve Antonich, our country to represent.
That the coy Ella Simpson's the power behind the throne
In Junkermier's "Mylegia" is whispered in undertone.
Philanthropist, Kemp Toole, married eight times in vain,
Is engaged to Marg Rubens who wrote "Come with the Rain."
That group of cuties with bright eyes and dark curls
Are, Wise, Wynn, and Weaver, my cigarette girls.
M. Eickemeyer sings a hit by Hegland and Huntsberger
Called "The Romantic Romance of the Hill Billy Sheep Herder."
Kupsick and O'Neill, Robertson and Birch
Are my Bouncers who bounce so hard that it hurts.
Murphy and Poncelet, a dazzling dance team,
Adagio dance just like in a dream.
To remind us of pigskin days, thrilling and happy,
The Dow twins are following their famous pappy.
For Lois McCollum's love Joe Gannon hopes for luck
By chaining himself to her radio like a faithful Irish pup.
Mary Beth Weimer nifty knitter Ph.D.
Enrolls thousands in her classes and all knit merrily.
In dances a chorus of Feminine Heart Wreckers
The collar ad boys, Horsewood, Rumford, and Becker.
The far-famed feud of the Nelsons and Olsons
Was forcefully stopped by Pugilist Folsom."

* * * *

The light grows dim, with strong perfume pervading,
While the blaring of trumpets and cymbals is fading.
A mystical veil's drawn o'er this scene, alas.
Clarence George and his patrons are a thing of the past.
The monocled figure of Sir Pinkleton Vice Stood before them and spoke, in accents precise,
"I'm sorry old chaps, but I just found that ice,
I lost it last night in a bally game of dice."

Rambling Recollections

September 9—School begins. Can you imagine it? I'm glad to come back! I'm turning over a new leaf.

September 25—Senate Election Dance. I thought I'd never see the day when rival headquarters were under one roof. To top it off, I went with a republican.

September 28-30—K. Y. A. assemblies. Spent most of the week in the auditorium finding out what the different clubs were doing. Finally joined too many.

October 8—Surprise! Picked for the Roundup Staff. Shock to me and to everyone else. After our first meeting, we all dashed down to the cafeteria to a delicious unexpected luncheon.

October 10—Great Falls 53 Miles City 7. That game was just like a track meet. Big-hearted us, let them have a touchdown, then they wouldn't feel too badly.

October 14—I always said we needed a new trophy case, especially today as the Iniwa and Roundup won several cups and plaques in the N. I. P. A. Contest.

October 19—We took it upon ourselves to elect a new president. Roosevelt triumphed over Landon, 1098 to 342. I can hardly count my bets.

October 24—Great Falls 33 Havre 0. Was the wind ever taken out of Havre's sails! Just look at the score. Sat and played cat with the referee.

October 28—International Quartet. First outside assembly. Zoom! Zoom! and Short'nin' Bread. Everybody's singing it.

October 30—Teacher's Convention. No School. Don't have to take up yodeling to make my "Hurrahs" heard.

October 31—Great Falls 40 Butte Central 0. This time we brought our knitting and made "hug-me-tights" for the bench-warmers.

November 2—Senate-Forum Debate. Never let it be said that the Senate won. It was the affirmative.

November 13—Great Falls 34 Spokane 0. They came, I saw, but we conquered.

November 25—All pepped up to receive championship, walked off with prizes at Mardi Gras, and had a snappy time at the dance.

November 26—Thanksgiving Game. Great Falls 25 Butte 6. Sun glaring, band blaring, throats hoarsing, and what a game.

December 3—Magician Assembly. Now you see it, now you don't. Was hoping he'd make my civics book disappear, but he wasn't that good.

December 11-12—Growing Pains. First All School Play. One-eighth all school, and seven-eighths freshmen.

December 23—Balloons, balloons, and more balloons. I blew up so many for the Booster Ball, that I was blue in the face.

December 24-January 4—Vacation, the time of rest. Twenty-three hours dancing, one hour sleep—Oh what a life!

Rambling Recollections

January 15—All School Election. Such graft. M. L. Pope was elected without being nominated. Guess I don't rate.

January 22—Semester ends. Report cards. Mislaid my pearl-handled revolver. This time I was really going to end it all.

February 5—Radio Assembly. Reward: Cactus-Face Elmer. Missing as well as a few screws. Great Falls 24 Havre 33. Life's darkest moment. We're not holding the goat this time.

February 12—Valentine Assembly. Sweethearts on parade. History of Love-making. I hope Blimpy Blump gets a few pointers.

February 18—The silver-tongued orators of the Electric City again poured forth their magic, this time bringing back a 3-0 victory over Lewistown.

February 27—Senior Ball. A fitting event to usher in the spring season. Midst a fountain of dazzling cellophane, we tripped the light fantastic.

March 3-4-5-6—Northern Division Tournament. Better luck next time, G. F.

March 12-13—Prince of Pilsen. "Vas you effer in Zinnzinnati," and all that sort of thing, don't you know?

March 24-25-26—Easter Vacation. A joy that comes once in a lifetime. Well, it seems a lifetime anyway.

March 27—Wrestling tourney at Havre. Grunt, groan. What gluttons for punishment.

April 2-3—Booster Carnival. Started out with a bag of confetti to have a big time, but I lost myself in Hades. Ah woe is me!

April 9—Co-Ed Prom. Nobody a wall-flower, not even me. Talk about glorified girls; you'd think we were Ziegfeld's "follies."

April 10—District Scholarship. This is one day I don't have to worry about.

April 14—After a long, weary day, I joined the Sophomores' peppy Matinee Dance, and behold! I was tired no more.

April 29-30-May 1—High School Week at Bozeman. I really felt quite collegiate staying at a sorority house and walking around the Campus. Some of my brainy friends walked off with honors.

April 30-May 1—Senior Play. Today I am an actor. You know, me and Garbo.

May 7—Roundup Day. Costumes magnificent, assembly stupendous, parade colossal, dance superb; 'nuf said.

May 12-13-14-15—Interscholastic Week at Missoula. Went to see Blimpy run. The gun went off; he shot off like a streak. On the way home we met him at Helena still going strong.

May 28—Junior Prom. Best dance of the year. Blimpy forgot to call for me (on purpose?)

May 30—Class Service. Impressive solemnity. Something I shall always remember.

June 3—Graduation. My throat grew tight, and tears fell fast as I sang "The Blue and White Forever!" Farewell all.

June 4—Last day. I can breathe again.
